Notes

- Cast On is done with the knit cast on method unless otherwise noted.
- Bind off is knit two stitches, pass first stitch over the second as many times as specified. bind off is done in pattern e.g. Seed Stitch BO - K1, P1 pass K stitch over P, K1 Pass P st over K.
- Knit first and last stitch of every row for a garter selvage stitch unless otherwise noted.
- Increase stitches are done by knitting into the front and back of the stitch after or before the selvage stitch on each end.
- Decrease stitches are done by knitting or purling two together
- The body both fronts and back are knitted as one piece bottom to top until split at armhole edge.
- You may want to place a stitch holder at each decrease to easily track the number of decreases.
- Three needle bind off - hold two needle parallel, knit into the first stitch of each needles with a third needle twice, then pass first stitch over the second. This form an I-cord ridge at the shoulder.
- If the pattern is asking you to knit or purl and it doesn't keep with the pattern, adjust and stay in seed stitch or seed purl grid pattern.

Finishing

Sew in sleeves

I-cord trim

Use size 9 double point needles

Start at bottom of left front, right side facing out. Pick up a stitch, do a long tail cast on of a second stitch. Do the first two I-cord knit stitches, second stitch pickup one stitch from the sweaters edge (you now have three stitches on your working needle) and knit it (the picked up stitch) and the first stitch of your two i-cord stitches together. Proceed with I-cord up the left front of the sweater , neck and right front. On the right front just before you get to the yoke where the Moss stitch and Seed Purl Grid stitch meet determine how much I-cord you will need to knit independently of the sweater body. The Button hole is formed by not picking up stitches, just i-cord the length you need to pass the button through the loop. If a toggle button is used 5 1-cord stitches is enough. Pickup the next stitch on the body and proceed how you did for the left side of the sweater

Note: Knit I-cord loosely. Take care in not pulling I-Cord stitches too tightly this will pull your front bottom up.
